Kolbe auction —

The plates are only 8 in number instead of 9 in other editions.

The text under the frame on each plate is
NEW ENG LITH CO 109 SUMMER ST BOSTON
instead of the Philadelphia firms on other editions

The numbering of the plates is in Roman numerals instead of arabic numbers on other editions.

The description of the plates over the top border is in lettering entirely different from lettering on plates in other editions.

The coins and their numbers seem identical to other editions.

Because this group is only 8 in number and the text in all editions refers only to 8 plates, this edition should precede the other editions which have 9 plates because the 9th plate is not mentioned in the text.
